Lily pollen prevention checklist

- [ ] Check lilies daily once they arrive and remove stamens within a day or two of opening.
- [ ] Lean over the sink when removing stamens to catch any pollen that falls.
- [ ] Use clean scissors and make a single, precise cut at the base of each stamen.
- [ ] Wipe your hands and the surrounding petals with a damp cloth after removal.
- [ ] If pollen does fall on fabric, use sticky tape to lift it immediately before it sets.
- [ ] Ask your florist about low-pollen varieties when ordering lilies for precious spaces.
- [ ] Place lily vases on protective mats near delicate furniture or fabrics.
